ANSWER

Defendant, CROWN ASSET MANAGEMENT, LLC, (“Defendant”), by its attorneys, David M. Schultz and Todd P. Stelter, for its Answer to Plaintiff’s Complaint, states as follows:

MATTERS COMMON TO MULTIPLE CLAIMS

INTRODUCTION

1. This action seeks redress for the conduct of defendant, a debt buyer, in filing collection actions on purported debts to which it did not have lawful title and in fraudulently pretending to be a holder in due course.

ANSWER: Defendant admits that plaintiff’s complaint purports to seek redress for the conduct of Defendant, a debt buyer, in filing collection actions on purported debts to which it allegedly did not have lawful title and in allegedly fraudulently pretending to be a holder in due course. Defendant denies filing collection actions on debts to which it did not have lawful title and denies fraudulently pretending to be a holder in due course. Defendant denies any and all liability, violations and/or wrongdoing under the law. Defendant denies plaintiff is entitled to any redress and denies all remaining allegations contained within this paragraph.

2. There is a substantial problem with debt buyers suing on debts that they do not own and have no right to sue on.

ANSWER: Defendant is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained within this paragraph.

3. There are multiple reported cases in which debtors have been subjected to litigation because they “settled” with A and then B claimed to own the debt. Smith v. Mallick, 514 F.3d 48 (D.C.Cir.2008)(commercial debt purchased and resold by debt buyer, debt buyer [possibly fraudulent] settles debt it no longer owns, settlement held binding because notice of assignment not given, but obligor subjected to litigation as result). See also Miller v. Wolpoff & Abramson, LLP, 1:06-CV-207-TS, 2008 U.S.Dist. LEXIS 12283 (N.D.Ind., Feb. 19, 2008), where a debtor complained he had been sued twice on the same debt; Dornhecker v. Ameritech Corp., 99 F. Supp. 2d 918,923 (N.D.Ill.2000), where the debtor claimed he settled with one agency and was then dunned by a second for the same debt and Northwest Diversified, Inc., v. Desai, 353 Ill. App. 3d 378, 818 N.E.2d 753 (1st Dist. 2004), where a commercial debtor paid the creditor only to be subjected to a levy by a purported debt buyer.

ANSWER: Defendant is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained within this paragraph.

4. In Wood v. M&J Recovery LLC., CV 05-5564, 2007 U.S.Dist. LEXIS 24157 (E.D.N.Y., April 2, 2007), a debtor complained of multiple collection efforts by various debt buyers and collectors on the same debt, and the defendants asserted claims against one another disputing the ownership of the portfolio involved. Shekinah alleged that it sold a portfolio to NLRS, that NLRS was unable to pay, that the sale agreement was modified so that NLRS would only obtain 1/5 of the portfolio, and that the 1/5 did not include the plaintiff's debt. Portfolio claimed that it and not Shekinah is the rightful owner of the portfolio.

ANSWER: Defendant is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained within this paragraph.

5. In Associates financial services co. v. Bowman, Heintz, Boscia & Vician, P.C., IP 99-1725-C-M/S, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 7874, *9-12 (S.D.Ind., April 25, 2001), later opinion, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6520 (S.D.Ind., Mar. 31, 2004), allegations were made that a creditor had continued to collect accounts allegedly sold to a debt buyer.

ANSWER: Defendant is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained within this paragraph.

6. An article that appeared in the trade press shortly before the extension of the Illinois Collection Agency Act to debt buyers stated:

More collection agencies are turning to the debt resale market as a place to pick up accounts to collect on. Too small to buy portfolios directly from major credit issuers, they look to the secondary market where portfolios are resold in smaller chunks that they can handle.

But what they sometimes find in the secondary market are horror stories: The same portfolio is sold to multiple buyers; the seller doesn't actually own the portfolio put up for sale; half the accounts are out of statute; accounts are rife with erroneous information; access to documentation is limited or nonexistent

Corinna C. Petry, Do Your Homework; Dangers often lay hidden in secondary market debt portfolio offerings. Here are lessons from the market pros that novices can use to avoid nasty surprises, Collections & Credit Risk, March 2007, pg. 24 Vol. 12 No. 3.

ANSWER: Defendant is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of the allegations contained within this paragraph.

broker obtained information about consumer debts owned by Hudson & Keyse and used the information to try to collect the debts for its own account. even though it didn't own them. Hudson & Keyse. LLC v. Goldberg & Associates. LLC. 07-8 I 047-civ (S.D.Fla., filed Nov. 5, 2007). (i) the effective date of the assignment; and

(ii) the consideration for the assignment.

(b) The consideration for the assignment may be paid or given either before or after the effective date of the assignment. The consideration may be contingent upon the settlement or outcome of litigation and if the claim being assigned has been listed with the collection agency as an account for collection, the consideration for assignment may be the same as the fee for collection.

(c) All assignments shall be voluntary and properly executed and acknowledged by the corporate authority or individual transferring title to the collection agency before any action can be taken in the name of the collection agency.

(d) No assignment shall be required by any agreement to list a debt with a collection agency as an account for collection.

(e) No litigation shall commence in the name of the licensee as plaintiff unless: (i) there is an assignment of the account that satisfies the requirements of this Section and (ii) the licensee is represented by a licensed attorney at law
